

Powered by

Community-Driven Repositories

Hyku Commons is an open-source repository platform designed to support flexible, scalable digital collections. With expanded functionality, active development, and a strong network of support, Hyku empowers institutions to build, manage, and grow repository programs with confidence.

Hyku Service Offerings

Learn about the range of services available through Hyku Commons and how they support repository programs. New features include:

Flexible Metadata

Configure metadata fields to fit your collections—no custom development required.

Dynamic Import Templates

Download ready-to-use templates based on your repository's metadata settings.

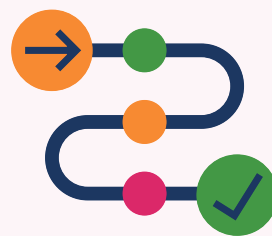

Improved Website Accessibility

Enhanced accessibility improves navigation and usability for all users.

Support and Collaboration

Hyku combines a dedicated support team with an active user community. Through user groups, regular office hours, and direct access to the Hyku Product Owner, repository administrators collaborate, share expertise, and help guide platform development—supported by grant-funded sustainability initiatives.

Roadmap

What's On the Horizon

Hyku's roadmap is shaped by community priorities and ongoing development. Areas of exploration include ORCID integration, human-readable URLs, improved OAI support, IP restrictions, improved bulk import capabilities, and DOI minting. As an open-source platform, priorities continue to evolve in response to community input.

Community in Action

Hyku Commons continues to grow through community-driven innovation. Recent and ongoing work includes enhanced authentication options (SSO), expanded usage reporting, experimentation with AI-assisted metadata, and customized institutional branding—demonstrating the flexibility and collaborative strength of the platform.

Get Started With the Hyku Commons!

Visit our website and connect with the Hyku for team to explore opportunities for your repository.

See the website
hykucommons.org

Contact the Hyku Team
consortial-ir@palci.org

Read about our sustainability initiative
<https://bit.ly/sustainable-hyku>

Hyku for Consortia is developed in partnership with PALNI, PALCI, Notch8 and the Samvera Community. Visit hykuforconsortia.palni.org to learn more.